

PERSONAL AND SOCIETY.

(All society and personal notes for the Sunday issue of the Journal, to secure publication, must be in the hands of the city editor by Saturday noon.)

The past week was given over to the music festival, and society was dull as it has been any week since last summer. The singers, Miss Juch and Miss Howe, were entertained at luncheon and dinner, but the guests were so few that, except for the parties, no special mention would be made of the week. If any one had a thought of entertaining, carrying it out was saved for some other time. Monday, before the festival, Mrs. Charles H. Walcott gave a charming daylight reception for Mrs. William Alvin Bartlett, of Washington, formerly of this city, and Mrs. Frederick Kneller had a party for company for Mr. Fischer, the bass. The end of the week was reserved for the reception and the exhibit of Mrs. Wilson's water-colors at Mr. and Mrs. J. Dye's.

The city pulpits are, for the most part, filled by preachers who have come here within the past two or three years from other cities. One who came from a flourishing community, thinks this is a very slow place for weddings. In speaking of his recent parish he said some seasons there were eighteen and twenty large weddings, and upon one occasion his wife and he attended four in one day. This particular clergyman is not the only one who has observed that the number of weddings in this city. Occasionally there will be a run of weddings, and then all is quiet for another year or two. There is a noticeable increase in the population, than anywhere else in the country. At the property party given for the Conference of Churches and Clergymen, nearly every stranger remarked upon the beauty and attractiveness of the young women there. Perhaps for the reason that all are so charming the men demand to see upon any particular one.
